
Contents

About the Authors 7

Þorsteinn Helgason / Simone Lässig
Preface 13

Part One Ourselves and Others in Nordic Textbooks

Kristín Loftsdóttir
Deconstructing the Eurocentric Perspective: Studying “Us” and the “Other” in History Books 21

Nils Andersson
Intercultural Education and the Representation of the Other in History
Textbooks 33

Bente Aamotsbakken
Pictures of Greenlanders and Samis in Norwegian and Danish Textbooks 61

Kristín Loftsdóttir
Encountering Others in Icelandic Textbooks: Imperialism and Racial
Diversity in the Era of Nationalism 81

Part Two Ends and Means: Materials in History Teaching

Þorsteinn Helgason / Monika Vinterek / Amalía Björnsdóttir
History in the Textbooks and the Teachers Who Use them: a Teachers’
Survey and More 99

Karl-Gunnar Hammarlund
Beyond the Book Cover: Curriculum Goals and Learning Materials . . .	107
Monika Vinterek
Different Kinds of Teaching Resources – Different Kinds of Learning? Teachers’ Ends and Means	121
Jens Aage Poulsen
Narrativity in Teaching Materials	139
Porsteinn Helgason
Critical Thinking and the Textbook in History: An Odd Couple?	163
Monica Reichenberg / Dagrún Skjælbred
“Critical Thinking” and Causality in History Teaching Material: an Analysis of how the French Revolution Is Presented in a Norwegian and a Swedish History Textbook for Junior High School	185
Pálmi Magnússon
The Teacher, the History Text and Values	219
Tom Gullberg
Facts, Functions and Narratives in History Teaching in Finland: Attitudes Towards History as Reflected in the Use of Textbooks	239
Appendix	269
Index	280