BACKGROUND AND OBJECTIVES

The Georg Arnhold Program aims to promote research into education for sustainable peace. Its focus lies particularly on educational media and curricula in post-conflict or transitional societies, although Western democracies are obviously also called upon to develop new concepts to maintain and stabilize peace within society. The program is a response to the rising demand for grassroots approaches, as well as those that are sustainable and regionally-sensitive, to establishing or strengthening cultures of peace and sustainable development – key challenges for present and future generations.

The program thus strives

- To foster the international exchange of ideas among both established and early-career scholars,
- To generate recommendations for organizations and stakeholders in the field of peace building and for policy-makers, and
- To strengthen connections between academia and civil society.

PROGRAM STRUCTURE

THE GEORG ARNHOLD VISITING RESEARCH PROFESSORSHIP IS

- Awarded annually for a stay of between three and six months in Braunschweig.
- An opportunity to conduct research projects or to complete work on major publications without teaching or administrative obligations.

ARNHOLD SYMPOSIUM

- The Georg Arnhold Visiting Professor recommends a topic and develops a concept for an international symposium.
- The symposium takes place at changing locations, such as Braunschweig or New York City, with scholars, policy and decision-makers and societal stakeholders in attendance.

GEORG ARNHOLD INTERNATIONAL SUMMER SCHOOL ON EDUCATION FOR SUSTAINABLE PEACE

- Annual one-week summer school for both upcoming and established academics from international institutions and doctoral students working at the Georg Eckert Institute and for representatives of governmental or non-governmental organizations or international organizations.

THE PATRON: GEORG ARNHOLD

The program is named for Georg Arnhold (1859–1926), a German banker, patron of the arts and committed pacifist. He and his brother were the proprietors of the Bankhaus Gebr. Arnhold (Arnhold Brothers) in Dresden. This family bank provided capital for burgeoning industrial firms and was, until its “Aryanization” in 1935, one of the largest private banks in Germany. The Arnholds blended their economic success with generous support for the arts, sciences and social welfare. Georg Arnhold was involved in the German Peace Society and active in the Esperanto movement.

THE BENEFACTOR: HENRY H. ARNHOLD

Georg Arnhold’s grandson, the American benefactor Henry H. Arnhold, instituted the guest professorship at the Georg Eckert Institute to honor the legacy of his grandfather:

“Throughout his life my grandfather focused on the question of how societies can achieve lasting peace. There are indeed many parallels between his life’s work and that of the Georg Eckert Institute: With the values and the education that we teach our children and young people today, we are shaping tomorrow’s society.”
